NSF/ANSI Standard 61 Drinking Water System Components

We have received certification of our products (manufactured in Marshfield, WI, and Glasgow, KY) to NSF/ANSI Standard 61. NSF 61 is a standard that applies to the health effects of drinking water system components. The focus of the standard is evaluation that our products do not impart or leach contaminants or impurities into drinking water. Drinking water applications are becoming a large market for our products.

In Canada, 11 of 13 Provinces/Territories require drinking water system components to comply with NSF 61, and 35 states in the US recognize NSF 61 as a policy for drinking water systems.
